Diocese bans services at old church

Chad Ingram
Staff reporter

Struggles continue between the people of Irondale and the Anglican Diocese of Toronto.

The diocese doesn't want any of its ministers performing services at the Irondale church.

In the summer, after two years of legal challenges, the Bark Lake Aboriginal Tribe was able to purchase from the diocese what had been St. John's Anglican Church.

The church, built by pioneer Charles Pusey in 1887, was sold to the diocese in 1901.

It was closed and decommissioned as an Anglican church in August of 2010 due to a dwindling congregation and since they purchased the building in August, community members have been using it as a non-denominational place of worship with different ministers conducting Sunday services.

Some of these ministers are members of the Anglican church – two are retired – and in late September the tribe received a letter from the diocese.

"It has come to our attention that the purchasers continue to hold services in the church, which is entirely appropriate," reads the letter, signed by Colin R. Johnson, the Archbishop of Toronto. "We have learned, however, that they have been inviting Anglican clergy to officiate at those services, which is not."

The letter says the diocese has "instructed our clergy to politely decline any future requests to officiate any worship services in the former church of St. John, Irondale. Anglican clergy are not permitted to conduct services at St. John's as it is no longer under Anglican authority."

Carol Simmons, who was involved in the campaign to keep the church from going to a private buyer, said community members are upset and said she knew of other non-denominational churches where Anglican services are held.

"It looks like they're black-balling us," Simmons said.

She believes there were some Irondale residents who informed the diocese that services were continuing at the church. "We are trying to maintain our traditions and it has been Anglican services for more than 100 years," Simmons said. The Times left a voicemail for Johnson and received an email from diocese communications director Stuart Mann. The email contained a statement from Bishop Linda Nicholls, who presides over the church's Trent-Durham area.

"This former Anglican church, St. John's, was closed and deconsecrated and sold to private citizens for community use," the statement reads. "Anglican clergy are only permitted to function in Anglican ministries."

The diocese received $70,000 for the church, $10,000 less than a 2011 offer that was stopped through an injunction.

Motion 312 about human rights, Devolin says

Chad Ingram
Staff reporter

On Sept. 21, Motion 312, a private member's bill from Conservative MP Stephen Woodward seeking to redefine what legally constitutes a human being, was defeated in the House of Commons.

There were 203 votes cast against the motion and 91 for.

Haliburton-Kawartha Lakes-Brock MP Barry Devolin's vote was one of the 91 yeas.

"There's kind of two issues here; there's what the motion really says and there's the sort of broader, political issue," Devolin told the paper last week.

The motion read that, "a special committee of the House be appointed and directed to review the declaration is subsection 223(1) of the Criminal Code which states that a child becomes a human being only after the moment of complete birth."

Devolin said it was an issue of human rights and protection under the law.

"[The country's definition of a human being] is a 400-year-old principle and surely with modern science and modern medicine it's worth revisiting," Devolin said.

He said he thought most people would be upset with the notion of an eight-months pregnant woman smoking and drinking, implying that therefore most people believe unborn babies have rights.

"I think Canada is one of the few countries in the world that doesn't have legislation on this issue," Devolin said, adding that he believes part of the reason the issue was revisited was due to gender-based abortions in cultures that give preference to boys over girls.

"There are very strong views both ends of the spectrum here."

The motion was decried as archaic by numerous women's rights organizations and Rona Ambrose, minister for the status of women, came under heavy scrutiny for voting in support.

Devolin placed most people, including himself, somewhere in between those polemic views.

"On a personal level, I know that Ursula and I would never have an abortion and we would never counsel anyone to have an abortion," he said. "I think the world would be better place with less abortion."

However, Devolin said he is not in favour of a law to outlaw abortion.

"I think there's a lot of grey area," he said.

Prime Minister Stephen Harper has said repeatedly the abortion debate would not be reopened and voted against the motion.

"Our party has said that as the party of the government, we will not revisit the issue," Devolin said.

However, he noted it was a private member's bill and a vote of conscience for most MPs.

"For someone like me, all I know is that I have to stand up and vote yes or no when I read the motion."

It was a celebration of the harvest, local food and one of SIRCH's latest programs.

A feast was held at the Minden Hills Community Centre on Oct. 3 as a wrap up to the Haliburton County Fun Family Farm Tours, which took place in late summer.

The tours, meant to introduce families to local food and healthy eating, went to Whippoorwill Farm, Abbey Gardens, Windy Meadows Farm, Magnificent Hill Farm as well as the Haliburton County Garlic Fest.

"It's the first time SIRCH has done something like this," said Daniela Pagliaro, the organization's manager of resilience programs. "It was a great success"

The tours had between 20 and 30 participants and thanks to a grant from the Healthy Communities Fund, SIRCH will be continuing local food programming, including cooking workshops.

Some of the programs will be held in conjunction with the Ontario Early Years Centre.

SIRCH is also starting a community kitchen program in Minden that will be held out of the Minden Hills Community Centre courtesy of the township.

"I'd like to start tomorrow," said board member Sheila Redpath, who said the program is still looking for more volunteers.

Anyone interested can contact Pagliaro at 705-457-1742.

Rogers back on second contract with township

Chad Ingram
Staff reporter

Minden Hills's former interim chief administrative officer is back at the township.

John Rogers has been hired on contract to take on some of the work in the township's community services department.

Former community services director Rick Cox resigned in August to take a job in Tillsonburg, Ont.

"John Rogers is on temporary contract with the municipality to help with the workload created through the vacancy of the director of community services," chief administrative officer Nancy Wright-Laking wrote in an email to the paper. "He will be working on a temporary basis until the vacancy is filled. His work schedule is based on his availability."

Rogers, a lawyer, former CAO, mayor and acquaintance of Reeve Barb Reid, was acting CAO for the township though the early part of 2011 when former CAO Gerry Morrison was on leave.

Morrison has since been fired.

Wright-Laking wrote that the hiring of Rogers "was an administrative decision on staffing and was not required to be approved by council and thus did not come to the council meeting." The township will not be releasing information on Rogers's payment.

Frost Centre revival on wish list

► Cultural plan process takes community's pulse in Algonquin Highlands

Chad Ingram
Staff reporter

Algonquin Highlands township continues to craft a cultural plan.

Planscape consultant Margaret Walton gave councillors an update on the process at their Oct. 4 meeting.

Walton has met with the project's steering committee, learned about previous planning in the township and toured the municipality with Reeve Carol Moffatt in drawing up a draft plan.

"We made a few changes based on the comments we received," Walton said. "You have a very engaged group."

There was also a survey, filled out by 60 people, which Walton said is remarkable for a small township and recorded interviews with community stakeholders, including members of council.

It's about vision and values. We probably can't afford some of these things.

— Reeve Carol Moffatt

While the amalgamated township of Algonquin Highlands is relatively new and therefore doesn't have much history as an entity, Walton noted the area is history-rich.

Among its strengths is that it is home to three distinct centres – Stanhope, Dorset and Oxtongue Lake.

While Stanhope offers a strong connection to local pioneering and logging history, Dorset brings a quaint village experience and Oxtongue Lake a voyage into Algonquin Park.

Workshops asked participants what they would ask a "cultural genie" for.

In Dorset, these requests included reviving the Frost Centre, instituting lecture and music series as well as more outdoor activity planning.

In Stanhope, suggestions included the construction of an amphitheatre and the establishment of a community marketplace and in Oxtongue Lake, people wished for a museum or arts centre and greater emphasis on the community's connection to painter A.J. Casson and the Group of Seven.

"It's about vision and values," Moffatt said, noting the report was not a work list for council. "We probably can't afford some of these things."

An interesting finding by Walton was that while newer residents said they treasured the area's sense of community, long-time residents lamented that a feeling of community had been lost.

There will be a cultural visioning session at the Dorset Recreation Centre on Wednesday, Oct. 17 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Input from the evening will be used in the drafting of the final plan.

Chamber of commerce looks to bright future at AGM

Angelica Blenich
Staff reporter

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce has much to look forward to. The organization celebrated the past year at the annual general meeting held on Oct. 4 at the Minden Legion. With monthly breakfasts, a gala event, after hours networking and a golf tournament, the chamber members have been busy.

"We've had more of a public presence this past year," said Eric Thompson, president of the board.

The president acknowledged there have been some challenges over the past year but the organization has still been successful, as attendance numbers are up.

"It's been a great year and we're moving on," said Thompson.

Chamber manager Rosemarie Jung highlighted developments made in the last 12 months, including enhancing the website, ramping up a social media presence and offering new workshops.

"We're moving forward and our board is very focused on strengthening our voice in the community," said Jung.

One change the board decided on during the meeting was to amend the object of the chamber, to reflect a clearer purpose. The revised mission now reads, "the object of the Chamber shall be to strengthen business and community through advocacy, networking, participation, member services and leadership."

The organization's financial position remained steady, as both expenses and revenue were down from the previous year. Looking ahead to next year, the organization has budgeted $146,575 for total expenses and $147,685 in total income.

Three new members were added to the board, including Bram Lebo, Hilary Elia and Cheryl McCombe. Previous members Audrey Beck and Mike Janetakes were reinstated.

Publisher of The Highlander Lebo was the guest speaker of the event, talking about authenticity, a concept he believes we can build on in the Highlands.

"We're not Muskoka. We're outdoors oriented. We're on the edge and we're a bit edgy," he said.

Sharing stories of his experiences in Haliburton County, Lebo spoke to the importance of offering an authentic experience local to the Highlands.

"We're not doing things well, we're doing things meh," he said.

Pointing to examples of restaurants serving food not local to Haliburton County from a delivery truck, Lebo questioned why owners wouldn't opt to prepare fresh food.

"I don't mean to be rude, but if you don't like to cook, you probably shouldn't run a restaurant."

One example of a company providing a local, authentic experience was Kawartha Dairy, which he said doesn't serve the best ice cream, however, its distinguishable brand means customers are lined up in large numbers every summer.

Lebo believes one thing we can do right is customer service, especially when it comes to the cottage population.

"They think we're rude, we think they're rude. Well, we're both rude," he said.

Businesses need to spend more time and money on training people in the community on customer service, he said.

"Our staff are intimidated by city people. They have more money than we'll ever see, but we need to get over that. We need to take more pride in who we are."

Man up

THIS IS A challenge.

This is a public dare to the men of Haliburton County – in particular those of the local media, municipalities, OPP, EMS, fire departments and especially the county's male politicians – to man up and don some female footwear on Oct. 20.

That's the day the local YWCA is holding Walk A Mile in Her Shoes, a fundraiser that will see men, myself included, circle Minden's Riverwalk in red high heels.

Violence against women is a quiet and insidious epidemic in Haliburton County.

Last year the local centre, based in Minden, received 500 calls.

The level of domestic violence that exists here is unacceptable and we need to work together to change it.

It's fitting that the fundraiser, which has become popular in larger communities, uses high heels as a symbolic device.

In many ways, the Western world remains a patriarchy of sorts, one in which women are culturally forced, through tradition, commercial and peer pressure, to paint their faces, shave their bodies and wear ridiculous, stilted footwear that shows off their calves.

Dissertations can and have been written about this stuff.

Chad Ingram
Reporter

While it will certainly be amusing to watch a bunch of men stumble around in high heels, the event offers a greater societal statement.

It's a chance for the men of this community to demonstrate to women who've been abused that we're not all angry, violent morons. Will it be embarrassing?

Perhaps. Will it be painful? Likely. But it will also be the ultimate display of manliness. What constitutes manliness?

Obviously it's the ability to fix a car while barbecuing a steak, lifting weights and warding off wolverines.

The definition of manliness hinges on strength and bravery and what could possibly require more strength or bravery than walking around town in a pair of red-hot heels?

As for those who lack the testicular fortitude to put on the shoes (slippers are also available), they could at least make some sizeable monetary contributions to the cause.

All proceeds go directly to the local safe space.

For more information, to register or to sponsor a walker, call Sarah Adams at 705-457-0260 or visit www.walkamilehaliburtoncounty.com.

Tower lights invade home

To the Editor,

For the first time in 60 years my wife and I have had to lower our blinds from dusk to dawn. We haven't been invaded by a pack of peeping Toms, nor curious raccoons; we have been invaded by a cell tower. A tower equipped with two levels of very bright flashing white lights and a red light.

I realize that cell technology is here to stay and that towers are a necessity. I understand NIMBYism and that Luddites have been fighting a losing cause since the Industrial Revolution. What I don't understand is the lack of common sense used in the design and location of this tower. It is presumed that the lights are in place to warn aircraft pilots of the tower's location. I would suggest that an aircraft, flying by visual flight rules, at an altitude below the tower top has a few other problems to worry about. In this county, tall trees on top of high hills pose a similar threat at night. Maybe these should also have lights.

Victory for HATVA

To the Editor,

To the surprise of precisely no one, the HATVA has once again been granted carte blanche to have its way with our Haliburton County Rail Trail. The sweet smell of victory was in the air Sept. 26 as county council approved the application for ATVs to blast on to the trail May 1, 2013, guns blazing, mud spewing and a collective middle finger pointed at the rest of us.

If you've all got a minute – or make that an hour – to spare, you should really go check out the heart-rending plea of HATVA president Mr. Steven Skidmore (no, I didn't make that up) as he typed his fingers into a bloody pulp pounding out a letter to council. Same old song and dance. See, the ATVers are massively confused! They've got pockets, buckets and suitcases full of $50s and $100s to toss into the air once they cross that border from Victoria County. To no avail! They're having to turn around in defeat and take their untold gazillions elsewhere. How many gazillions? Glad you asked. $55 million, give or take. Are

Free fall

SOME PEOPLE ALWAYS want to push the envelope.

Austrian daredevil Felix Baumgartner immediately comes to mind. If this guy had an envelope in his front pocket, it might get pushed right through his body during his next stunt. You see, Baumgartner plans on skydiving from 36.5 kilometres and becoming the first human to break the sound barrier unaided by a vehicle.

In stark contrast, I get nervous when the Ferris wheel I'm on descends too fast.

Even so, I must dispute the claim that he would be the first to break the sound barrier unaided by a vehicle.

I have done it dozens of times.

Admittedly, my first effort was poorly documented. Yet, I will, to this day, swear on a stack of pancakes that my second grade sprint from Mary Ellen Tobin, who wanted to kiss me very badly, qualified me as the first to break the sound barrier unaided by a vehicle.

She was fast. But I was faster – by about 680 miles per hour.

In the interest of full disclosure, witnesses at the time claim that the sonic boom produced by my escape was simply me breaking something other than the sound barrier. But they weren't there.

My second successful attempt happened in fifth grade after accidentally hitting an eighth grader who was on his second victory lap, with a snowball in the back of the head. Again I have little documented proof other than if you visit the school yard of St. Lawrence Catholic Elementary School,

I'm sure the concrete is still charred. And I recently heard that they finally repaired the Steve-shaped hole in the chain link fence.

I could go on, but you get the point.

This, of course, is not to take away from the incredibly brave exploit that Baumgartner is about to undertake. For one thing, he's doing this of his own free will. No one is chasing him with malicious intent.

Unlike me, he is not a gifted amateur. Instead, he is a highly trained professional who has already survived this jump from lesser heights.

If he succeeds, he will have set a world record for the highest parachute jump of all time. And while no one speaks openly of it, if the balloon carrying him into space gets punctured, he will probably set the record for the best aeronautical stunt display ever. So either way, he can't really lose.

Well, that's not exactly true.

The descent will take two and a half hours – very much like the wait I endured when those bratty kids pushed all the buttons on the elevator I was on. Similarly, though not because of the Mexican food, he will face perilous conditions and will need to rely on an oxygen mask. And the wind buffeting his body might destabilize him and put him into a spin he might never recover from too. People have died trying this.

So why do it? I'm guessing he just doesn't grasp the gravity of the situation.

Keep your eyes on the dog

OUR ROAD THROUGH the woods on Sapsucker Ridge might be lined with great grey owls for all I know, but I will never see them, for I must keep both eyes on the drum major.

But instead of flourishing a baton, The Brown Dog Jiggs leads the way with the wagging of his white-tipped tail. The ATV and its cartload of wood-cutting tools bring up the rear.

The Brown Dog has his own drum majoring style. Instead of strutting his stuff at the head of the procession, he meanders, and so I must keep my eye on him and ignore the scenery.

Head down, rear appendage twitching with excitement, Jiggs follows his nose and I follow him. Not so much follow, as make sure not to overtake him.

Our little parade proceeds with caution. The Brown Dog changes directions on a whim, sometimes tracing oblique lines, sometimes stopping to sniff the sky, sometimes taking a hard left right in front of me.

Sometimes he catches me by surprise and the front of the ATV brushes up against him, startles him, and he picks up the pace, tries a straight line for a change until the speedometer says we are all the way up to three miles an hour.

When he takes a modest detour into the tag alders to circle seven times and perform his morning evacuation, the rest of the parade bunches up behind him.

It is a bad habit The Brown Dog and I have developed in our 10 years together. When we head back into the woods, Jiggs must take the lead and all machinery must follow.

Bad habits die hard. Keep your eyes on the dog until some urgent scent, stronger than the rest, gets his attention. He yelps a little yelp and all that is left of the parade is the machinery.

Most days, the machinery hauls only a hard hat and safety chaps, a splitting maul and a couple of chain saws, the second of them for the sawyer to cut his way out of mistakes he made with the first one.

The maul, a fat axe, always seemed like the best idea for woods work. Now a few looks at other fingers trimmed by motorized wood splitters ratifies that vote for simplicity.

There might be a peavey for company, even a wedge and a sledge, but only for special occasions, because whatever rides out in the bottom of the cart must ride home atop a load of wood.

The Brown Dog will catch up with me eventually. When I take time to listen, his barking draws a map of the chase. Frantic, high-pitched yips put a porcupine up a tree. Off on some pond, dog and geese whoop it up together.

Then I rise and turn with a fresh-split armload and there lies the dog, watching me, leaves of gold camouflage for his collie coat, as though he has been there all along.

"Jiggs," I say. He lifts his head. Thumps his tail. Just a little bit.

The dog snoozes. I split. After a while, we have a load. The Brown Dog is on his feet to brush my knee with his muzzle, waits for me on the trail back home, ready for some more drum majoring.

It is a shame to have to keep your eyes on the road in these precious days of autumn, whether the road is a haul trail on Sapsucker Ridge or a county road emerging from a rock cut onto a kaleidoscope of golds and reds.

They ought to lower all of the October speed limits, just to make us take a longer look. Hills and valleys, bright colours speckled with conifer green are set against the perfect blue of a cloudless October sky.

On another day, layers of clouds in three dimensions race across the sky. Cloud cools us, then bright sunshine through a blue gap in the puffy white warms us up again.

My wife and I take the scenic route back home to Moore Falls, re-tracing the twists and turns and straightaways of Deep Bay Road, just so I can point at the hills above the Coltman place.

See, there's the back of my bush, I say, and it takes an act of will to get my eyes back on the road.

No common sense used

The probability of hitting a tower is somewhat akin to throwing a dart the length of a football field and hitting a sewing needle. Given all that, warning lights are required. How about sensible warning lights? A steady red light, even two red lights, although still annoying, would be far less intrusive than the current design.

The worst part of this is the sense of futility I feel. Protection of the quality of life of a few citizens faces the combined opposition of government regulations, the interests of very large corporate entities and apathy.

Rail Trail not for ATVs

you sick of hearing this? 'Cause I'm sure sick of saying it. Show me the money. Just show me.

This is the lowest common denominator of tourism, but it's apparently what we're aiming for here in the Highlands. Let the well-heeled Bridle Path intelligentsia head to Muskoka. We'll take the powersports enthusiasts. Mr. Skidmore regales us with an example of all the money one ATVer in particular laid out on a recent visit: hotel, food, a bit of gas to get here. And guess what? His trip culminated in a grand art purchase! Here's this: Cyclists and hikers contribute all this stuff too. With no detriment to the environment. And chances are they don't end up with a painting of dogs playing poker.

And can we please stop called ATVing a "sport"? Climbing into an open-air vehicle does not a sportsman make. Otherwise I would qualify for a gold medal in athletic achievement myself, having logged many hours on a Ford 5000.

There is a place and a purpose for ATVs. The Rail Trail is not that place. An opportunity for clean, intelligent tourism is being lost here. Every day we're losing ground. And there will be no turning back once we turn our trail - full of natural beauty both plant and animal - into a four-lane dedicated year-round ATV superhighway.

Thank you volunteers

To the Editor,

On behalf of Men of Integrity Ministries I want to thank everyone who contributed to the men's summit Sept. 21. The event officially launching Men of Integrity Ministries was an overflowing success with 110 men gathering together at Fleming's Great Hall. The evening included a video message from MOI's ministry partner Promise Keepers, special music by Harry Morgan, a video skit, a couple of testimonies and a explanation of the vision and strategy of MOI ministry by founder and ministry coach Brian Plouffe.

This event could not have been accomplished without the men's summit volunteers on the day of the event and all those churches and individuals who sold tickets.

Thank you as well to the over 30 women from five local churches who provided an abundance of desserts for the evening. Over $2,500 was raised to launch this new faith-based ministry.

Future events include a November Promise Keepers in Mississauga and men's ministry teams aimed at men helping men to be the best husbands, fathers and community members they can be. For more information please contact me at brianplouffe@hotmail.com or at 705-457-1470.

Reads of the week

Book of the Week

Astray by Emma Donoghue

From the author of last year's Evergreen Award winner Room, comes a fantastic new collection of short stories. All of the characters in this book have "gone astray": they are emigrants, runaways, drifters, lovers old and new. They are gold miners and counterfeiters, attorneys and slaves. They cross other borders too: those of race, law, sex, and sanity. Each story has been inspired by some real person or event in history and Donoghue briefly notes the fascinating true research behind every journey. Astray is suggested for history buffs and those who enjoy elegantly crafted, character-driven fiction. You can reserve it at the Haliburton County Public Library.

Junior Book of the Week

Young Adult Title

If I Stay by Gayle Forman

In the long run, minuscule details like the weather will not matter—but it was a beautiful day. Enough snow had fallen to cancel school, yet by late morning, rays of sunlight had started peeking through the clouds. Ignorant of what was to be a perfect day, chance and circumstance destroyed one family. A four-ton truck ploughed into the side of their car, leaving 17-year-old Mia and her brother Teddy hanging between life and death.

Their parents were killed instantly. Life for Mia would never be the same, and she finds herself faced with an impossible choice. Should she give up, and join her parents? Or fight an uphill battle for survival – and try to truly live again after such loss? If I Stay by Gayle Forman is a lyrical and haunting novel, which doesn't shy away from tough questions. A story about love, loss, and family, and is available to reserve from the library today.

Local Celebrity Read

Bessie Sullivan, CEO/county librarian of the Haliburton County Public Library, recently finished reading Up and Down by Terry Fallis in anticipation of the author's upcoming appearance at the Friends of the Library Book Gala on Nov. 4. Up and Down follows a PR agent named David Stewart who is tasked with trying to revitalize the Canadian public's interest in the space program. It features Fallis's trademark satiric wit, which readers have come to love from his earlier titles The Best Laid Plans and The High Road.

"I loved this book for a number of reasons," says Sullivan. "It was funny from the first page. It was compassionate, dealing very delicately with the aging process as well as terminal disease and death. The book also promotes kindness, tolerance and doing things for the right reasons."

"I have seen Terry Fallis speak a few times and I am very excited that he will be visiting Haliburton County," Sullivan concludes.

News & Events

We're running children's programming on Saturday mornings at the Dysart (Haliburton) branch throughout October. Stop by at 10 a.m. for stories, games and crafts – free fun!

Participate this fall and winter at the cultural centre

Laurie Carmount
Special to the Times

Youth who are enthusiastic about visual arts will have an opportunity to work with Rose Pearson, a local professional artist, in a new series of workshops this month at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery. Any youth 13 and older can register for two workshops that will deal with social media. Pearson will work with participants in collecting data and imagery to create a collaged piece, involving many different kinds of art methods. Participants are asked to choose their favourite YouTube video and for one week, Facebook, text and Twitter about it with friends. These dialogues are to be collected. This information then becomes the basis to creating an expressive work of art to exhibit at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in November and December. This is a unique opportunity for youth. If interested, sign up forms can be found on the cultural centre website www.mindenculturalcentre.com. Forms which need to be dropped off at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery with a fee of $15. Deadline for registration is Oct. 16 (however this may be extended).

For the month of October the Minden Hills Cultural Centre is embracing the Halloween theme with many fun-filled activities.

Saturday, Oct. 27 the Minden Hills Museum is having a family day of Halloween activities from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. This will involve crafts, games and pumpkin carving. Join museum curator Darren Levstek as he takes you through the Bowron House telling scary ghost stories.

Sunday, Oct. 28 is the Minden Community Family Halloween Dance at the Minden Community Centre from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Kids must dress up for this event. Admission is $1 per person. D.J. Gervais will rock the night. Be creative – best youth and adult costume will win a prize.

Be sure to make the Minden Hills Museum part of your Halloween trick or treating on Wednesday, October 31. Once again the museum becomes haunted as the ghosts from the past come to moan their anguish throughout the heritage buildings! The Haliburton County Public Library Minden Branch will be offering hot chocolate for everyone visiting. Treats for kids will be available.

For those who want to know the unknown about quilts and quilting, curator Darren Levstek will be offering a lecture on Oct. 18 in the common room starting at 7 p.m. This lecture goes into detail about the history of quilts that most do not know – from battle armament to the Underground Railroad.

Also in October the Agnes Jamieson Gallery continues to exhibit Mary Anne Barkhouse's The Reins of Chaos, an interpretation of the Book of Revelations, telling of the impending Apocalypse. You too can be a horseman for only 25 cents as you ride the coin-operated horses. A selection of Andre Lapine's work, from the gallery's collection, is also exhibiting.

The Agnes Jamieson Gallery members' show is quickly approaching. Any members of the gallery are welcome to participate in this show with a recent piece of artwork they have created. The registration form is now available on the website www.mindenculturalcentre.com. If you wish to become a member, forms to join are also on the website. The closing reception will be Dec. 22 where everyone is welcome to join us at 1 p.m. for some holiday cheer.

The R.D. Lawrence Place will be hosting an exhibit by the Ministry of Natural Resources Bear-Wise program. This exhibition explains all one needs to know about the black bear and how we can co-exist with them. We look forward to having Bart the Bear Man talk about black bears – date and time to be announced the cultural centre website.

In November, the Minden Hills Museum becomes reflective with an exhibition about Remembrance Day, running from Nov. 1 to Nov. 24. This exhibition, held in the Sterling Bank building, will include items from the Minden Legion's collection. Please note, for the first time, the Sterling Bank building will remain open during the winter months.

The end of November is the busiest with the third annual Festival of Trees fundraiser.

The dedicated volunteers of the cultural centre have been like elves pulling together this spectacular event.

Mark your calendars for Nov. 23, 2 to 8 p.m., Nov. 24, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Nov. 25, 12 to 4 p.m. The Festival of Trees offers 24 beautifully and fully lit Christmas trees, wreaths and baskets of gifts for people to win by buying raffle tickets to put in a box at each item. There will also be a gift shop of unique gift ideas for Christmas.

The Minden Hills Cultural Centre, consisting of the Agnes Jamieson Gallery, Minden Hills Museum and R.D. Lawrence Place is located at 176 Bobcaygeon Rd., Minden. Open Tuesday to Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Call 705-286-3763 for more information.

Senior girls' basketball team falls short

The following sports briefs were compiled by Judi Paul's HHSS class.

Tuesday, Oct. 2

The senior girls' basketball team fell short on the scoreboard against Fenelon Falls despite an excellent effort from the first to last minute of play. Player of the game - Casey Pringle.

The senior boys' soccer team travelled to Adam Scott where strong rushes by Tanner Ballantyne and great ball control by Bin Chun and Tanner Hamilton helped the Red Hawks to a 4-0 victory. Tanner Hamilton and Jordan Howe each had a pair of goals in the win.

Wednesday, Oct. 3

The varsity A field hockey team took on

Adam Scott on home turf. The girls brought their "A" game which resulted in a 8-0 win. Goals for Haliburton were scored by Sandy Griffith (3), Ali Hicks, Ali Valleau, Mackenzie Hill, and Jessica Bishop.

Red Hawks junior football team's offence lines up with its quarterback Devon Upton in the HHSS home opener against the Kenner Rams on Thursday, Oct. 4. HHSS won 30-12.

Above, Red Hawks rugby player Christina Stephen finishes her hit in the HHSS home opener against Brock High School on Tuesday, Oct. 2. Although the team lost 20-5, HHSS felt victorious in their effort.

Far left, a T-shirt worn by Red Hawks senior football coach Tim Davies shows what every HHSS athlete and student thinks when they wear the red and white.

Left, the Red Hawks varsity A field hockey team celebrates following an 8-0 win over the Adam Scott Lions in Haliburton on Wednesday, Oct. 3. HHSS remains undefeated beating the formerly undefeated Lions. Griffith finished with three goals and two assists.

Peewee AE kick off season

On Monday night the peewee AE team started off their season with a home game against South Muskoka. It was certainly a battle between the skaters of both teams.

They were back and forth, end to end all game. The skaters had their work cut out for them for sure.

It was definitely a game of who wants it more. Closing out the first period the score was only 1-0 for South Muskoka. With a quick goal for the Storm team we tied it up, scoring was Austin French.

Unfortunately South Muskoka rallied back and scored two more goals. To close out the second we were down 3-1. After a much-needed flood to rest our legs, and get back out there for the third period, the skaters had another tough period ahead of them. With them giving it their all, we found ourselves with a loss of 6-1, in hopes to come out winners on Friday night when we would meet up with them again in Gravenhurst.

We kicked off that game hoping for a win and we did it. We walked away from Gravenhurst with a win of 3-1. The boys played a nail biter of a game. The players never gave up, kept on skating as hard as they could.

With a very nice tip in from Trevor Turner assisted by Denver Allore and Austin French, that closed out the first period. Aidan Garbutt came up huge with a beautiful shot from the blue line straight through everyone, to have it go right in the net, from a nice pass from Matt Manning.

Our third goal was another nice tip in from Denver Allore assisted by Austin French and Tanner Crang, we were well on our way to a win. With some huge saves at the most important times throughout the whole game Carson Sisson kept us alive, to help us win our first game of the season. Great job to the boys, keep it up.

Novice team starts season with bang

The Highland Storm novice team started off the season with a bang facing the Port Carling Thunder in a double header Sept. 29. The Storm got off to a quick start scoring within the first 30 seconds of the game.

First goal scored by Nick Phippen, assisted by Hunter Winder and Kyan Hall. Port Carling came roaring back with three unanswered goals in the first period and it remained 3-1 until the third. In the third, the Storm got on the board quick with a goal by Hunter Winder assisted by Emily Alexander.

The tying goal was scored by Winder assisted by his linemates Ty Mills and Matthew Vargas. Matthew Vargas scored the game winner with less than two minutes remaining assisted by Winder and Phippen. Awesome goaltending by Damon Harriss who shut down the Thunder for the last two periods of the game. 4-3 final.

The second game saw the Storm attack Port Carling in the first period with a goal by Phippen assisted by his linemates Hall and Gage Hutchinson.

Second goal by Vargas assisted by Mills. Port Carling came back with two goals in the second and the Storm picked up a goal by Phippen assisted by Hutchinson and Hall. Fourth goal scored by Winder assisted by Vargas and Ava Smith.

Final goal, giving him the hat-trick, Phippen assisted by Hall and Alexander.

Great defensive play by the blue line consisting of Ryan Rupnow, Colin Glecoff, Smith and Alexander. 5-3 final.

malfano@hotmail.ca

Great news! Linda Smith is coming back to the Dorset Recreation Centre to start the fall and winter session of folk art classes. Join Linda on Mondays from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. starting Oct. 22. The first project will be a Christmas one and is snowmen on a garden cement edger. It's really cute and comes together quickly. It can be used as an indoor or outdoor decoration. To find out more, or to sign up, please call the recreation centre at 705-766-9968 by Oct. 15. All materials are supplied. As we know, lots of Dorset elementary aged school kids attend Irwin Memorial Public School in Dwight. I received a note that they are holding a magazine sale fundraiser. If you are interested in renewing an existing subscription, want to start a new one or want to give one as a gift, you can go online to www.

qsp.ca to see what's available. Enter group number 9965 so that Irwin gets credit. A portion of every purchase goes towards the school. Don't forget to cash in on store specials to start gathering items for the annual toy and food drive for the Salvation Army. Items needed include non-perishable food items, cleaning supplies, dog or cat food, baby food, toys and more. Muskoka Seniors' Friendship luncheons are held monthly at the Dorset Seniors Club from September to June. All adults ages 60 and older are welcome to participate. Lunch is served between noon and 2 p.m. Each month there is a theme, guest speakers, demonstrations, activities and entertainment. The cost is $8 per person. Applications with Muskoka Seniors and lunch reservations are required. Volunteers are always welcome. Muskoka Seniors also invite local Dorset businesses, guests and artisans to speak or lead a demonstration or to become a sponsor. For more information about Muskoka Seniors' Friendship Luncheons, contact program co-ordinator Anzie Williams by email to mealsonwheels@muskokaseniors.org or call 705-789-6676, extension 27. There will be a Dorset community policing meeting at the Dorset Recreation Centre on Tuesday, Oct. 16 starting at 7:30 p.m. All are welcome. For more information, contact Marlene at 705-766-2409 or Doug at 705-766-9070. Healthy community hand drumming classes for health and wellness continue on Wednesdays at the Dorset Recreation Centre from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and all are welcome. Instruments are provided. The cost is $5 per person. To register or find out more, call 705-766-9968.

Did you have too much pumpkin pie at Thanksgiving? Come out to Dorset TOPS weight loss support group at the recreation centre on Tuesdays at 6 p.m. To find out more, contact Lori at 705-766-2745. All are welcome.

Birthday wishes for Oct. 7 to 13 go out to Carmen Veall, Chris Bennett, Curt Bennett, Nicole McDonald and happy anniversary to Helen and Graham Avery and Sandra and Earle Northover. Be sure to give me a call or drop me a line to send wishes to your special loved ones or even you! So, for all who have birthdays, anniversaries and special occasions this week, have fun on your special day! If you have items for the Dorset News, please send them to my email address which is malfano@hotmail.ca or give me a call at home at 705-766-0076.

Shortly after being diagnosed with stage 2 breast cancer in December 2011, Joanne Whitman searched the Internet for information and support. The 53-year-old Hamilton woman visited the Canadian Cancer Society's website and found CancerConnection.ca, an online community where patients and caregivers can share their experiences and build supportive relationships.

Pioneer complex a major attraction

Patti Fleury
Around the Town

705-488-2938
brucefleury1@hotmail.com

This Thanksgiving weekend marked the 18th edition of the Kinmount Thanksgiving Harvest Homecoming Studio Tour sponsored by the Kinmount and Area Artisans Guild. Thank you to all who came out to enjoy the beautiful colours and to support this endeavour.

Reflecting back to early times when the fairgrounds pioneer complex was a major location on the tour, I sat weaving at the old barn loom while seven-year-old granddaughter Emma hosted the adjacent table with corkers, woven items and bouquets of dried flowers for sale.

Always the entrepreneur, she had made clothes peg dolls in pioneer dress with primitive painted faces but even at their modest $1 those pioneer people were not moving. True to her dad David's often repeated sales mantra of A.B.C. - Always Be Closing - I heard her say to one surprised visitor that if she bought a corker, Emma would throw in a pioneer woman of the lady's choice. Something about that old saying that the apple never falls far from the tree.

Wayne Ferren, sports officer for the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 441 Kinmount, invites new players including those who would like to learn how to play darts to come out for both the mixed and ladies dart leagues.

The mixed league plays on Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. and the ladies on Mondays at 7:30 p.m. and for more information please give him a call at 705-488-1353.

In addition to weekly prizes participants enjoy a year end banquet and awards.

Of special note there will be an information/registration meeting at the Legion for the new youth darts program for ages eight to 18 years on Saturday, Oct. 13 from 1 to 3 p.m. The contact for details about the Youth League is Tristan at 705-488-1830.

Special events in October are the annual dinner/loo-nie auction on Saturday, Oct. 20 with a social hour from 5 to 6 p.m. and dinner to follow. Advance tickets are available by calling the Legion at 705-488-3462.

The next Saturday, Oct. 27 it's the Halloween Dance from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. with a light lunch and prizes for the best costumes. For this event tickets are available in advance or at the door. Other ongoing programs at the Branch include Friday night bingo at 6:45 p.m., Saturday meat draws at 5 p.m., big bucks bid euchre at 11 a.m. on the third Wednesday of each month (Oct. 17) and the monthly liver and onions or alternative lunch the last Tuesday of the month (Oct. 30) from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Another busy spot is the Kinmount library. Drop by any time on Thursdays during regular hours (11 a.m. to 7 p.m.) to learn more about the new Expand the World of Literacy program with book packages including activities to encourage young readers. This month's Friends of the Library book sale will be held on Saturday, Oct. 20 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on the lower level of the branch. Donations of good used books for the Sale can be left in the drop box at any time but please no magazines or texts.

The 2013 edition of the Kinmount Calendar is now available with great pictures and key events already marked as reminders.

The calendars are $5 each or three for $10 and make a great Christmas stocking stuffer. Pick up yours now at the Kinmount Artisans Marketplace, Gateway Variety or Castle Building Centre.

Please note that the Artisans Marketplace is now open on Friday, Saturday and Sunday only from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Burnt River United Church Women will host its annual Christmas craft sale on Saturday, Nov. 3 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Burnt River Community Centre. Admission is free but donations for the food bank much appreciated.

Lunch is available and there will be a quilt draw. For table rentals please call Pat at 705-488-3328.

Also there is a call for vendors for the Coboconk New Horizons Group's craft and bake sale on Saturday, Nov. 3 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The cost is $20/table and arrangements can be made by calling Jennie at 705-887-6892.

In closing, a thank you to my reader who called with helpful suggestions for my pumpkin dilemma.

On her recommendation I have ordered the Kraft cooking magazine and look forward to its great recipes and helpful hints.

Until next week ...

Razzamataz Kids' Show presents Cake and I Scream

Gina Atkinson
Stanhope Life

705-489-2008
pinereflections@sympatico.ca

Another Thanksgiving has gone, now like everyone else we will have leftovers for almost forever! This year was different for us, Nigel's mom and dad decided they would join us for a few days so their company graced our table.

They call themselves Bennie and June and are extremely easy to have around. I know during their stay I will do very few dishes if any, play lots of euchre and Yahtzee.

They have been married for many years and have a very cool mutual understanding of each other that comes with time.

Nigel is in trouble when they leave because some of their beliefs I could live with. Like whoever makes dinner does not clean up and my favourite the five o'clock martini which he better learn how to make!

They passed on a little health advice from a Japanese lady, which apparently keeps you healthy. You soak white raisins in Bombay gin and each night you eat around 10. They have been doing this for almost a year and believe it works. I will let you - it's either positive thinking or pickling the germs.

Now that we are right into fall those dates that I informed you about are getting closer so don't hesitate to take part in some if not all of them. It will help the organizers plan their events and make them the better for you.

First, coming up very soon is the first show of the season that Razzamataz Kids Shows are holding entitled "Cake and I Scream." This is a Heath Tarlin Entertainment presentation of a story about two people, Hank and Shirley who are trying to open a brand new restaurant. This is usually an ordinary venture except for - it's right next to an amusement park! Competing with all the fun of the amusement park with all the rides and games has Hank and Shirley worried.

So ... they are spicing it up and we're not talking just about the food! The main dish is on fire, the plates are spinning and the spaghetti is flying! The big question is - will Hank and Shirley's crazy inventions and wild antics make their restaurant a success? Go and find out!

This presentation will be held Oct. 14 at 2 p.m. at the Northern Lights Performing Arts Pavilion and is sure to please all ages. You can become a season pass holder online through PayPal or they can be purchased at the door before the show at 1:30 p.m. Sounds like a good idea since the next show Nov. 25 is going to be Peter Pan. Check out their site at www.razzamataz.ca.

OK you men - have you registered for the Walk a Mile in Her Shoes coming up on Oct. 20 on our beautiful Minden Riverwalk? There's a pair of red high shoes just your size waiting for you!

The YWCA provides the shoes in any size so there won't be any excuses. The Dominion Hotel is the location for the registration at 10 a.m. followed by the route at 11 a.m. on the Riverwalk. Afterwards you can enjoy a sponsored lunch by the Dominion Hotel with chances to win great prizes and the best of all know that you have made a difference in helping women and their children who go to the YWCA Women's Centre, Haliburton County live their lives free of domestic abuse.

Register to today at www.walkamilehaliburtoncounty.com.

October is also Halloween month and the witching hour will be upon us before we know it! It's time to start thinking about your costumes now because the Carnarvon Bowl and Restaurant's Masquerade Party will be a real scream.

The date is Oct. 27 tickets are $8 advance and $10 at the door and are available now at Carnarvon Bowl and Restaurant, Pine Reflections Gift and Garden Centre and Community Living Haliburton.

There will be door prizes, prizes for best costume, DJ, hot/cold light buffet, but most of all a chance to have a really good time.

For more information, email me or call Chris at 705-489-4216. See you there!

Can you guess who the scary person on the poster is?
Have a great week.

ONTARIO JUNIOR CITIZEN OF THE YEAR AWARDS

Sponsored by:

Highlands Trio performs at the Minden Legion this Friday

The Royal Canadian Legion Minden branch 636 will be starting the poppy campaign soon. Volunteers will be selling poppies at various locations in and around Minden. We would like to thank all of the volunteers who have signed up to sell poppies this year. Legion members who would like to sign up can do so at the Legion. We would also like to thank all of the area businesses who have agreed to allow the Minden Legion to sell poppies at their establishments. Branch 636 is looking for volunteers to assist us in the kitchen or as servers. Volunteers are the backbone of our Legion and we appreciate any help that members and others can offer. Please contact the Legion at 705-286-6637 if you can help out in any way. The Legion is very pleased to announce that the Highlands Trio will be the entertainment this Friday, Oct. 12 from 7 to 10 p.m. Tips for the band are appreciated. Come for the beer-battered fish and hand-cut chips and stay for the entertainment! The Highlands Trio will also be at the Minden Legion on Saturday, Oct. 13 from 1 to 5 p.m. We are also planning to hold open mike sessions that afternoon as well. A chili lunch will be available at 1 p.m. All are welcome!

Minden Legion branch 636 will be holding their Honours and awards dinner on Saturday, Oct. 20. Award winners will have received their invitations by now. Congratulations to all award winners. We are looking forward to a wonderful evening of celebration!

In memoriam

In Memory of Gary Ezard

October 10, 2009

No farewell words were spoken
No time to say goodbye
You were gone before we knew it
Only God can tell us why
Always remembered by your family

Peewee A Storm tie game

Proudly sponsored by Smolen Dentistry, the peewee A Storm team were thankful this Thanksgiving weekend for a two game home-stand against rival Parry Sound on Saturday. The Parry Sound squad has proven to be a challenging opponent and with only three defensemen, our boys had a difficult time containing them in game one.

Parry Sound got on the board first and although Kyle Cooper was able to tie it up with a nice feed from behind the net by Ben Schmidt, a breakaway goal immediately following a Parry Sound penalty kill seemed to swing the momentum in Parry Sound's favour for the remainder of the game. Parry Sound scored two more goals in the second period to take control despite some fine saves by Parker Smolen.

Devyn Prentice snuck one in late in the second to give the boys some reason for optimism but that was quickly snuffed out in the third when Parry Sound scored again to put the game away. Final score: 5-2. The boys looked like a different team in the second game and started the game with an excellent fore-check that put Parry Sound on their heels in the early going. Alex Petrie got things started by poking in a loose puck in front, which was quickly followed up by Cooper.

Although Parry Sound answered to make it 2-1, Prentice's shot from the slot put the boys in more comfortable territory once again. Slowly though, the momentum swung back to Parry Sound and two goals in the second tied the game back up. If not for Schmidt's goal with six seconds left in the second to put them back up by one, things may have looked quite different for the boys going into the third.

As the parents held their breath, our boys showed resiliency in the third period and stood up to the Parry Sound attack. Goalie Josh Bellefleur held his ground but with only a minute and a half left in the game, Parry Sound's relentless effort finally paid off to tie the game up. Final score 4-4. The boys have a home game against Huntsville on Thursday night and be sure to come out to Minden this Saturday for their first tournament! In the spirit of Thanksgiving weekend, special thanks go to our coaching staff Barry Boice and Jim O'Neill, trainers Ashley Walker and Tom Prentice, manager Kirk Cooper and our sponsor, Smolen Dentistry. Thanks to all of your time and effort!

Atom As hosted a double header to Parry Sound

Game 1: With great line passing, Carter Bull passes to Ben MacNaull for our first goal. Quickly Parry Sound tried to answer with a goal, only to be shut down by goaltender Dylan Keefer. Working together the team scores another by Alex Little. Never giving up we lost 5-2. Game 2: After a few hours to rest, we stepped out on the ice determined. Cole Prentice fires on the net, with a quick rebound from Ethan Glecoff to put us on the board. Just minutes after Isaac Little passes to MacNaull for another point. Passing the puck and moving it back down the ice Nigel Smith gets our third goal. Period 2 the team was not willing to let up any pressure. Paul Turner makes a great pass to Zack Morrisette - goal. As the crowd is cheering, Smith gains control of the puck and scores another for the team!

The puck is dropped in the third. With Parry Sound still applying pressure, Joe Boice battles for the puck, passes to Miki Butka for a goal. Parry Sound answers with a goal, only to have Boice score another for the team.

Our last goal of the game, but no less important goes to Morrisette. Unstoppable goaltending by Keefer paired with determination, dedication, and hard work by all resulted in our first win (7-4) of the season.

Come out and cheer on the team this weekend in Wilberforce at the seventh annual Matt Duchene Fall Classic Tournament.
